PROMINENT MEN AND FEDERAL OFFICERS INVOLVED.

The Pacific Coast States The Scene of Their Operations—The Grafters Members of a Well Organized Mag-Dummy Entries of Valuable Timber Lands.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct 21.- Gigantic land frauds, involving prominent citizens and Federal officers on the Pacific Coast and in Washington, D. C., have been brought to light by agents of the Interior Department and of the Secret Service in California, Oregon and Washington State. Millions of acres of the most valuable forests in the United States are the stake for which these men have played, but it is certain the leaders in the conspiracy will be proseouted in the near future, with a good chance of conviction. The most startling feature of the investigation, which has been secretly going on in these States for the last six months, is that the persons involved in the effort to defraud the Government, although living in widely separated places, are all members of a well organized ring. Several Senators from States in the western part of the country are mentioned in connection with the land frauds, although their relation to the grafters is supposed to be, in most cases, that of protecting the guilty persons from prosecution by the

The evidence thus far secured is of such a character as to make it certain that the land scanduls will equal in importance the postal fraud cases, and will involve larger sums of money than have been involved in any Government investigation for meny years.

The names of men who sold to member of the land grafters' ring the use of their names for the purpose of making "dummy' entries of timber landhave been secured and also evidence that will lead to the arrest of several persons prominently connected with lumber companies and with Govern-ment land offices in the three Coast States.

The greatest frauds are supposed to have been perpetrated in California and Oregon, although the grafters have op-erated to a considerable extent in the State of Washington. Minor officials and clerks in the General Land Office in Washington, in the General Land Office in washington, D. C., it is known to the investigators, have supplied information to the ring in regard to the contemplated withdrawal of forest lands from the public domain

The meat of the scandals was found in the system of "lieu land selections." Representatives of wealthy lumber mill owner wishing to secure large forest areas at a frifting cost, have received from employees of the General Land Office in Washington, with whom they were in collusion, "tips' in regard to contemplated withdrawals for forest reserve purposes. A mill owner can take up only 320 acres of forest land on can take up only 320 acres of forest land on the surveyed public domain.

Persons who have taken up land, but whose holdings are subsequently included in a created forest reserve, have the privilege under the law of exchanging these holdings for an equal area of forest land on the unreserved public domain. Moreover, they have the right to sell these lien land rights, and any individual is at liberty to purchase any number of them at such price as is agreed upon between him and the holders. In that way the mill owners get possession of large tracts at small cost.

The present frauds consist in arrangement between the mill owners and individuals who have no use for forest lands, ment between the mill owners and indi-viduals who have no use for forest lands, by which these individuals take up land on territory which they know, from tips received from corrupt sources in Washing-ton, are soon to be included in a forest It is expected that prosecutions will be begun within the next month, and that at least a score of persons well known on the Pacific Coast, several persons in Washington and millions of acres of valuable timber will be involved.

His lawyer informed Justice Foster that an officer of the company, whom he did not name, had borrowed so much money from Scott that the latter had been obliged to steal.

"The officer," said the lawyer, "knew that Scott's salary was not large, but sometimes he borrowed as much in a week as Scott's salary was for a year. Thus, being short of money, Scott took to stealing for his own use. He is a degenerate morally and physically and has been entirely under the influence of this other officer."

"There is no doubt," said Judge Foster in pronouncing sentence, "that some other person profited by your crime. He should be held up to public scorn."

REVOLT AGAINST LITTAUER.

FULTON-HAMILTON MAY ELECT DEMOCRATIC ASSEMBLYMAN.

Littauer's Methods Arouse the People Without Regard to Party-Attempt to Have the Courts Take Democratic Candidate's Name Off the Ballot Falls.

ALBANY, Oct. 21 .- The attempts of Conrressman Lucius N. Littauer of Gloversville and his political friends in the Fulton-Hamilton Assembly district to use the judiciary as an aid to the election of Mr. Littauer's candidate for the Assembly have so aroused the people of those two counties, without regard to party, that the result of the contest there is likely to lead to the election of Erasting-Darling, the regular Democratic candidate. Mr. Littauer's candidate is Frank H. Wood of Gloversville, the present Republican Assemblyman.

Ex-County Judge Clarence W. Smith of Johnstown had a majority of the delegates to the Republican convention which nominated Wood a short time ago. Judge Smith, however, is an anti-Littauer man, and Mr. Littauer, through the influence of the National Administration, the Post Office Department and other worldy means, succeeded in stealing away enough delegates from Judge Smith to force Mr. Wood's nomination. The best element of the Republican party in the district is with Judge Smith apparently, and it induced him to agree to run as an independent Republican candidate, and a petition containing the signatures of 1,200 Republican voters was

This action on the part of the anti-Litauer Republicans was unlooked for by Littauer. Seeing defeat staring him in the face, he formed a coalition with the Judson Democrats in the district, who have been lined up with Richard Croker and Smith M. Weed in their fight against the domination of David B. Hill in the Democratic State organization. Last fall Mr. Hill's Democratic State convention throw out the Judson delegates from Fulton and Hamilton counties and the Smith M. Wood delegates from Clinton county.

The sinews of war were furnished the Judson faction by Littauer to contest the control of the Democratic Assembly convention, but the Judson forces were badly beaten at the primaries. Then the regular Democratic convention nominated Erastus Darling of Gloversville for the Assembly, and the Judson people bolted and nominated John T. Morrison. Mr. Darling is not a Hill, but an anti-Judson, Democrat.

Realizing the strength of Mr. Darling's combination, although expecting that the Judson Democrats would vote for Wood rather than their own candidate, Morrison, Littauer and his Republican friends and Democratic allies set out to prevent Darling or Smith from getting his name on the official ballot.

A few days ago Justice Spencer handed down a decision in a proceeding instituted by the Littauer people, ruling Judge Smith's name off the official bailot as an independent candidate on the ground that he was running as a candidate of "the independent ning as a candidate of "the independent Republican party," holding that the word Republican could not be used in such title. Meanwhile Representative Littauer had the Judson Democrats apply to Supreme Court Justice Henry T. Kellogg of Plattsburg for an order to declare that their candidate, Morrison, and not Erastus Darling, was the regular Democratio nominee, and, therefore, entitled to the place on the official ballot in the Democratic column.

Justice Kellogg handed down to-day a decision declaring Mr. Darling to be the Justice Kellogg handed down to-day a decision declaring Mr. Darling to be the regular Democratic nominee and repudiating the claims of the Littauer Democrats, led by Judson. As the situation stands to-night, Mr. Littauer's action has greatly helped the prospects of the election of Mr. Darling, because, it is asserted, many of the anti-Littauer Republicans who would have voted for Judge Smith will now vote for Mr. Darling.

The Littauer Republicans and the Lit-The Littauer Republicans and the lattauer Democrats had become so bold in their assertions regarding their influence with Supreme Court Justices to keep Judge Smith's and Mr.Darling's names off the ticket that citizens of Fulton and Hamilton counties, without regard to party, became much aroused and threatened if they could not vote for a Republican or Democratic candidate for the Assembly not controlled by Mr. Littauer they would vote trolled by Mr. Littauer they would vote for the Prohibition nomines and elect him. Justice Kellogg's decision in favor of Mr. Darling, has greatly relieved the

The anti Littauer feeling in Fulton and Hamilton counties among all classes of citizens is so intense that the assertion is for the Assembly can win. The fight is a purely personal one against Littauer.

THE LITTAUER GLOVE CASE. Attorney-General Knox's Opinion Delivered to the War Department.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 .- The Acting Secretary of War to-day received an opinion from Attorney-General Knox in regard to the case of Congressman Littauer of Gloversville, N. Y., against whom the War Department decided that it had established a prima facie case of being interested in the sale of gloves to the army. Secretary Root, in forwarding the Littauer matter to the Attorney-General, asked for an opinion as to whether the War Department should proceed against the Congressman to recover the sums of money which he had received through his participation in the sales of the gloves.

The text of the opinion will be made public to-morrow, and in the meantime public to-morrow, and in the meantime the officers who know its contents feel bound to refrain from discussing it. Be-yond the bare fact that the criminal prose-tion of Mr. Littauer is not advised, the only information obtainable as to the contents of the Attorney-General's ruling was a hint, which may have been based on mere conjecture, that the statute of limitations entered into the Attorney-General's con-sideration of the case.

Army glove contracts by which the War Department held Mr. Littauer had benefited were made in 1898, and his then term as a Representative expired on March 4, on March 4, 1902.

One statement made to-day by an officer who was asked about the Attorney-General's opinion, and who may or may not have been familiar with it at the time, was that as the Government had lost nothing on the contract in which Mr. Littauer was interested, having received full value for the price of the gloves bought, it had no claim to the amounts paid to Mr. Lit-

George Gould Writes That He Is Not Ready Yet to Disclose His Plans.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—George J. Gould has replied to the communication of the Trades League of this city in which that oody offered to cooperate with him in securing an entrance to this city for the Wabash Railroad. Its text was withheld by the Trades League, although it was said expressly that Mr. Gould had not given any hint in the communication as to what plans he has in view.

IRON TRADE OUTLOOK.

"Iron Age" Takes a Gloomy View of the Situation in That Industry.

The Iron Age, in its weekly review, takes a rather gloomy view of the iron trade. It Bavs:

The condition of the iron trade shows no improvement. As week after week rolls by old orders are being worked off and the gap is only partially filled by incoming new work. Affairs are mixed in pig iron, the basis of the whole industry. The manufacturers of the central West are now discussing the question of restricting the product further, to about 40 per cent.

of restricting the product further, to about 40 per cent.

The trade is watching for developments in the rall industry with a good deal of interest since it is understood that some of the railroads are conferring concerning the future of prices. It is understood that percentages for 1904 have not yet been adjusted among the mills, and it is interesting to note that an Eastern mill has taken two orders aggregating about 22,000 tons in the Chicago territory.

There has been considerable talk lately of pushing an export trade, and leading interests are apparently giving the matter close attention. Aside from wire products and tubes, which have gone out steadily even in the midst of the boom and which continue to do so, little is being done. NEW DENVER & RIOGRANDE STOCK

President Jeffery Says the Road Is Be trenching Moderately. A special meeting of the shareholders of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company was held in Denver yesterday, at which it was voted to increase the preferred stock from $14,100,000 to $50,000,000, making a total of $88,000,000 of preferred and common stock outstanding. Part of the pro ceeds of the new preferred stock will be used to purchase the Crystal River Railroad. Edward T. Jeffery, president of the company, who was in this city yesterday, said that while the business prospects in the territory traversed by the road were generally very encouraging, as a matter of pru-dence the company was retrenching in its improvement work and had been reducing its working force moderately.

ATTACKING ALVERSTONE. London Daily Mail Denounces His De eislon in the Alaskan Case.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Oct. 22 .- The Daily Mail, which carrying on an agitation against Lord Chief Justice Alverstone because of his decision in the Alaskan boundary dispute, attacks his "conscientious hastiness." It declares that the more the subject is studied the less comprehensible the award appears. It is an ignominious concession of the who question, suggesting entire misapprehension or excessive pusillanimity The paper quotes "well informed" Canadians in London as saying that the Canadian Commissioners refused to sign the award not only because their views were ignored, but because decisions were submitted for their signature concerning which they had not been consulted. The commissioners had unanimously agreed to give all four islands in Portland Canal to Canada. Subsequently Lord Alverstone's remarkable pliability induced the Americans to revoke the concession to which they had agreed in return for the recognition of their ownership of Lynn Canal.

Moreover, near Dyea the Americans receive territory to which Canada's right was never disputed.

OUR GAIN AND LOSS IN ALASKA. Valuable Territory Conceded to Us-Territory of Little Value Lopped Off.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 .- A close study by the officers of the State Department of the terms of the Alaskan Boundary Tribunal's award shows that in one particular the United States gains more teritory than was supposed yesterday. This feature concerns the Kleheny River region. Under the modus vivendi fixing the present temporary boundary the line of demarcation for part of the disputed territory was the Kleheny River. Under the tribunal's decision the boundary is placed to the north of the Kleheny, placing the entire river on the American side. The region so gained by the United States is said to be very valuable in minerals, although somewhat naccessible.

The area of the lopped off territory embraced in the American claim and given to Great Britain has not been determined, to Great Britain has not been determined, but the rough drawings of the new boundary give the impression that it averages twenty miles wide for a distance of about seven hundred miles. If this is correct the United States will fail to get 14,000 miles of territory which it claimed. EVERY DETAIL OF A STANDARD INTERPRETATION.

indicated in some cases by the composer himself, in others by the greatest living pianists, and in every instance by an authority entitled to respect.

This means that the veriest novice can not only with the Pianola play the great masterpieces upon the piano, but with the Metrostyle Pianola can play them as an artist plays them, with all the tempo shadings, accents, pauses, etc., that characterize an intelligent, individualzed performance.

At the same time, it cannot be too-clearly understood that these standard interpretations, although constituting an instructor and guide worthy of the utmost confidence, do not in the slightest degree limit the perfect freedom of the performer to interpret according to his own ideas.

The student, the musician, and even those only remotely interested in music, will be repaid for investigating this latest Pianola, which introduces to the world a new and potent factor in future musical development.

Pianola, $250; Pianola with Metrestyle, $800. Purchasable by moderate monthly payments.

A Kinderbeast is a kindergarten animal. It is great fun to do them. Mothers will find that the Kinderbeast puzzles will keep the children
